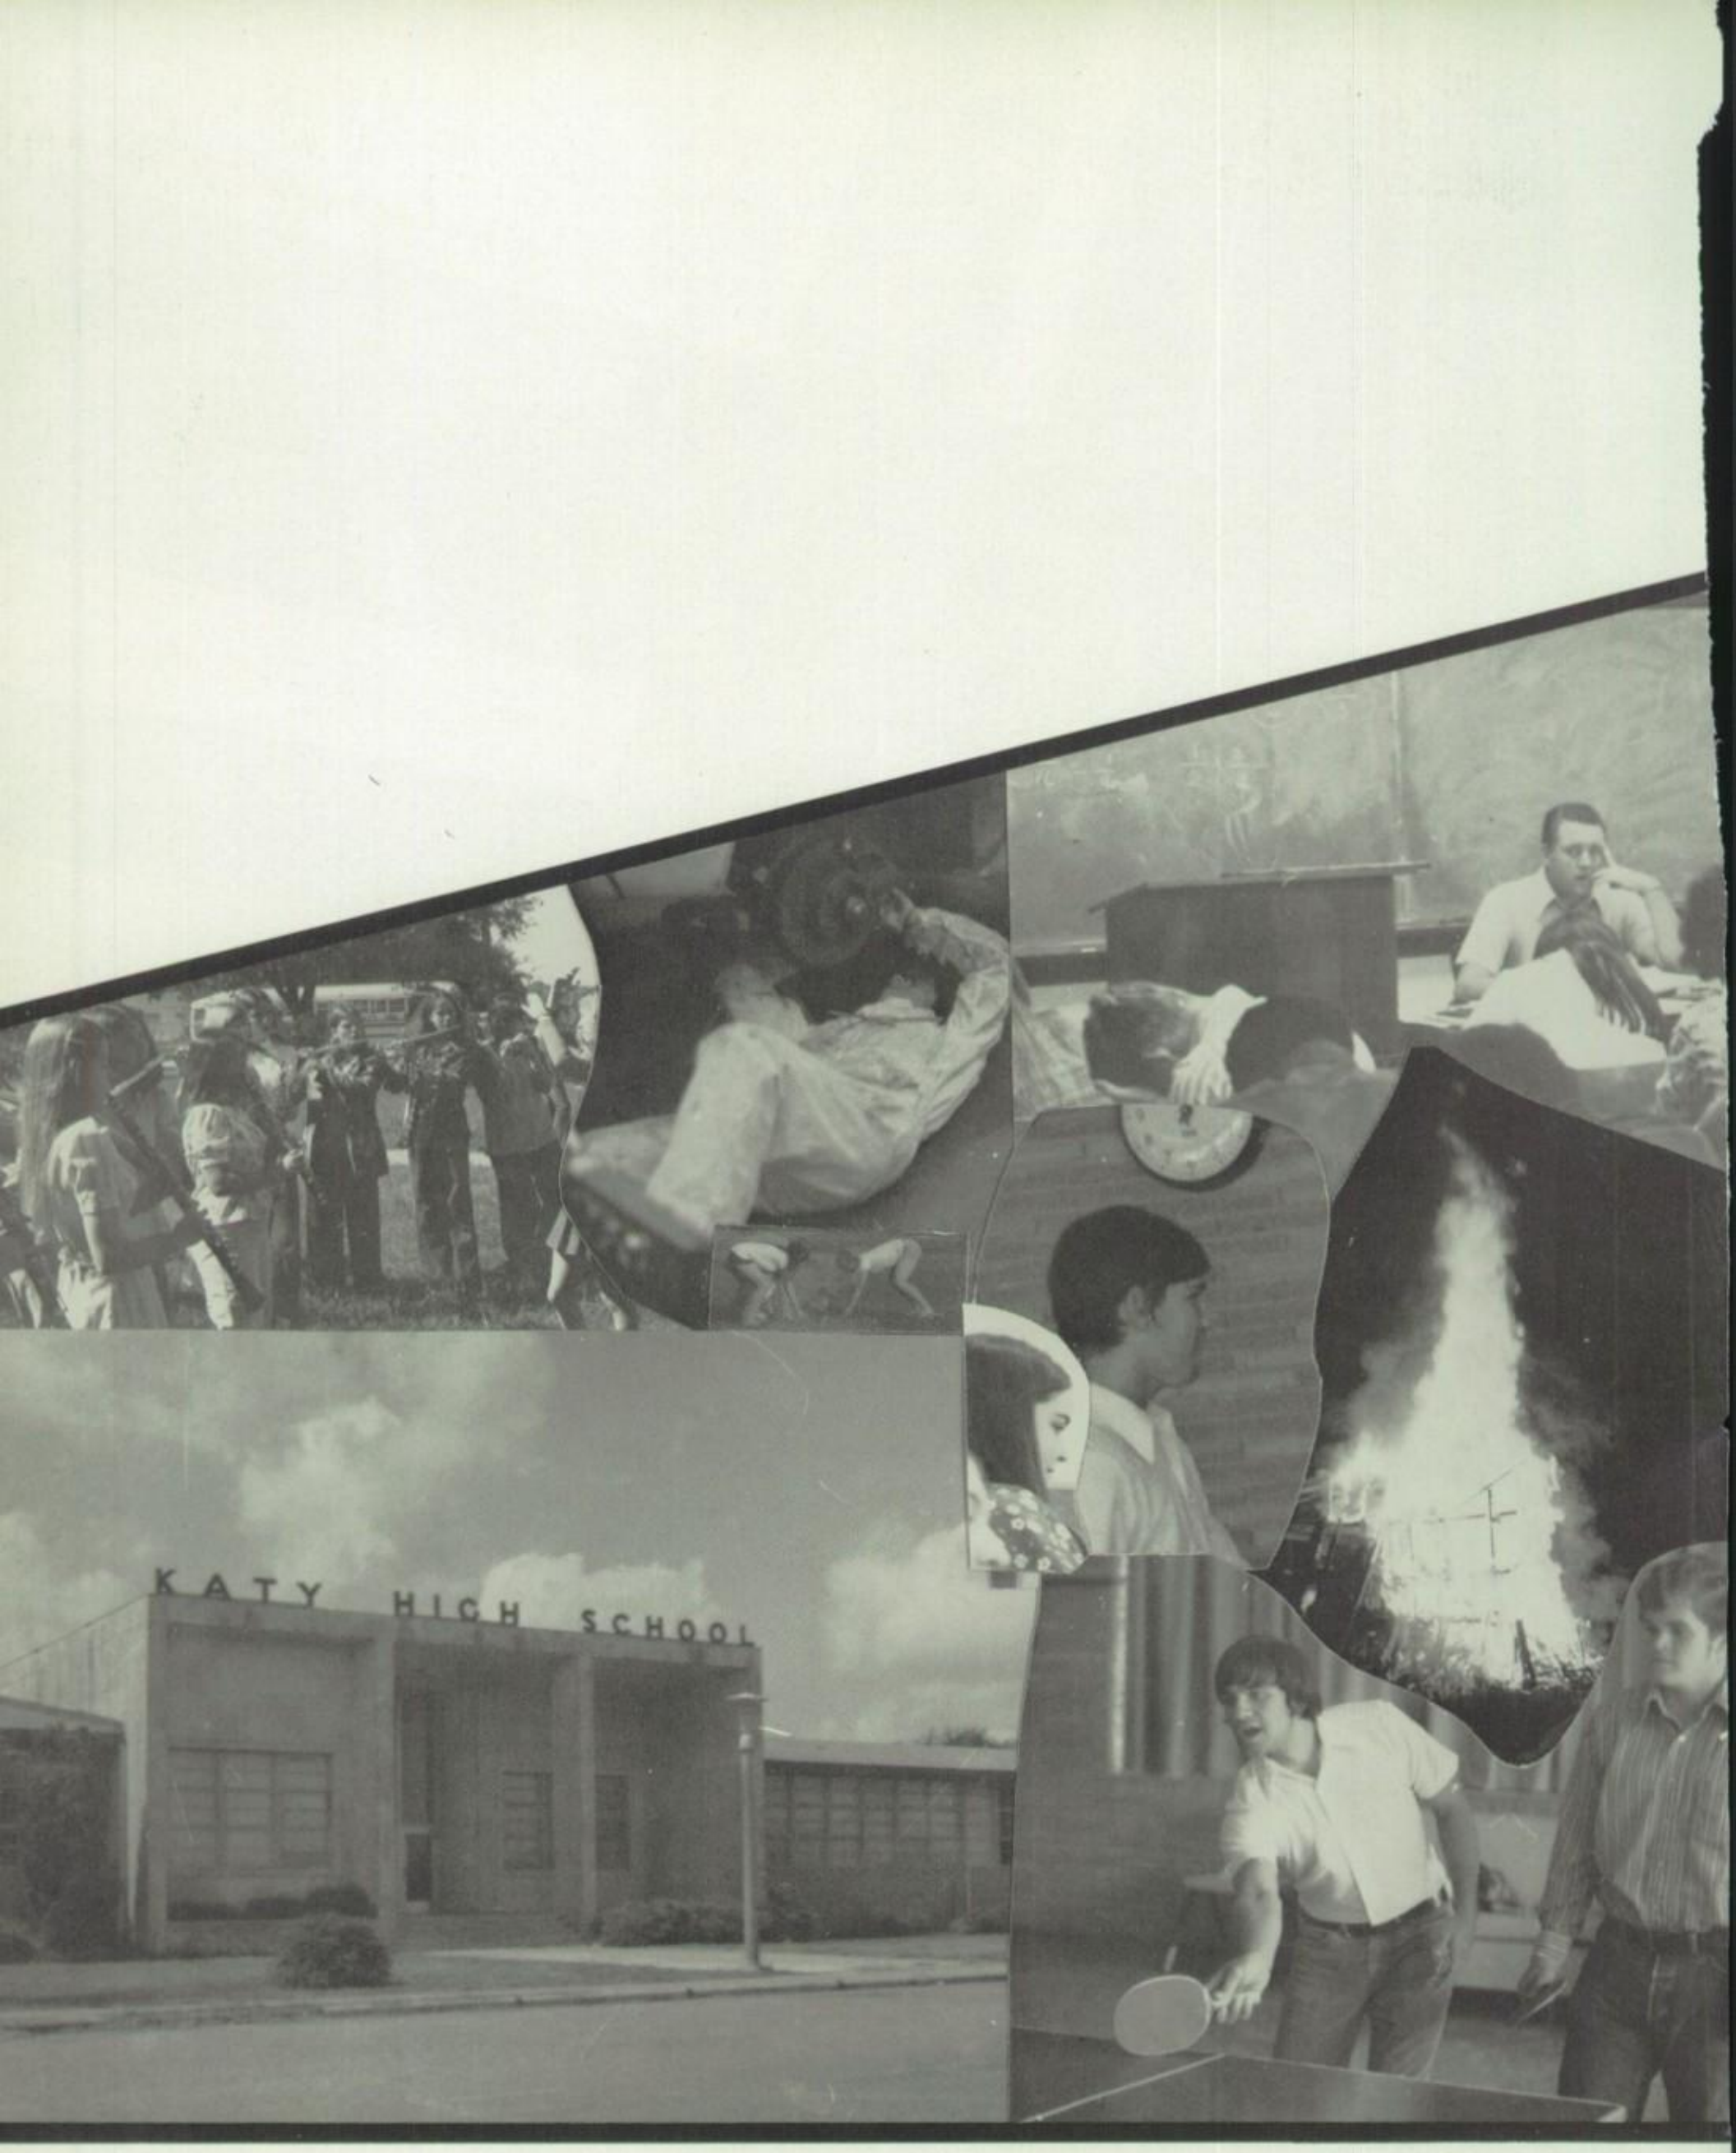
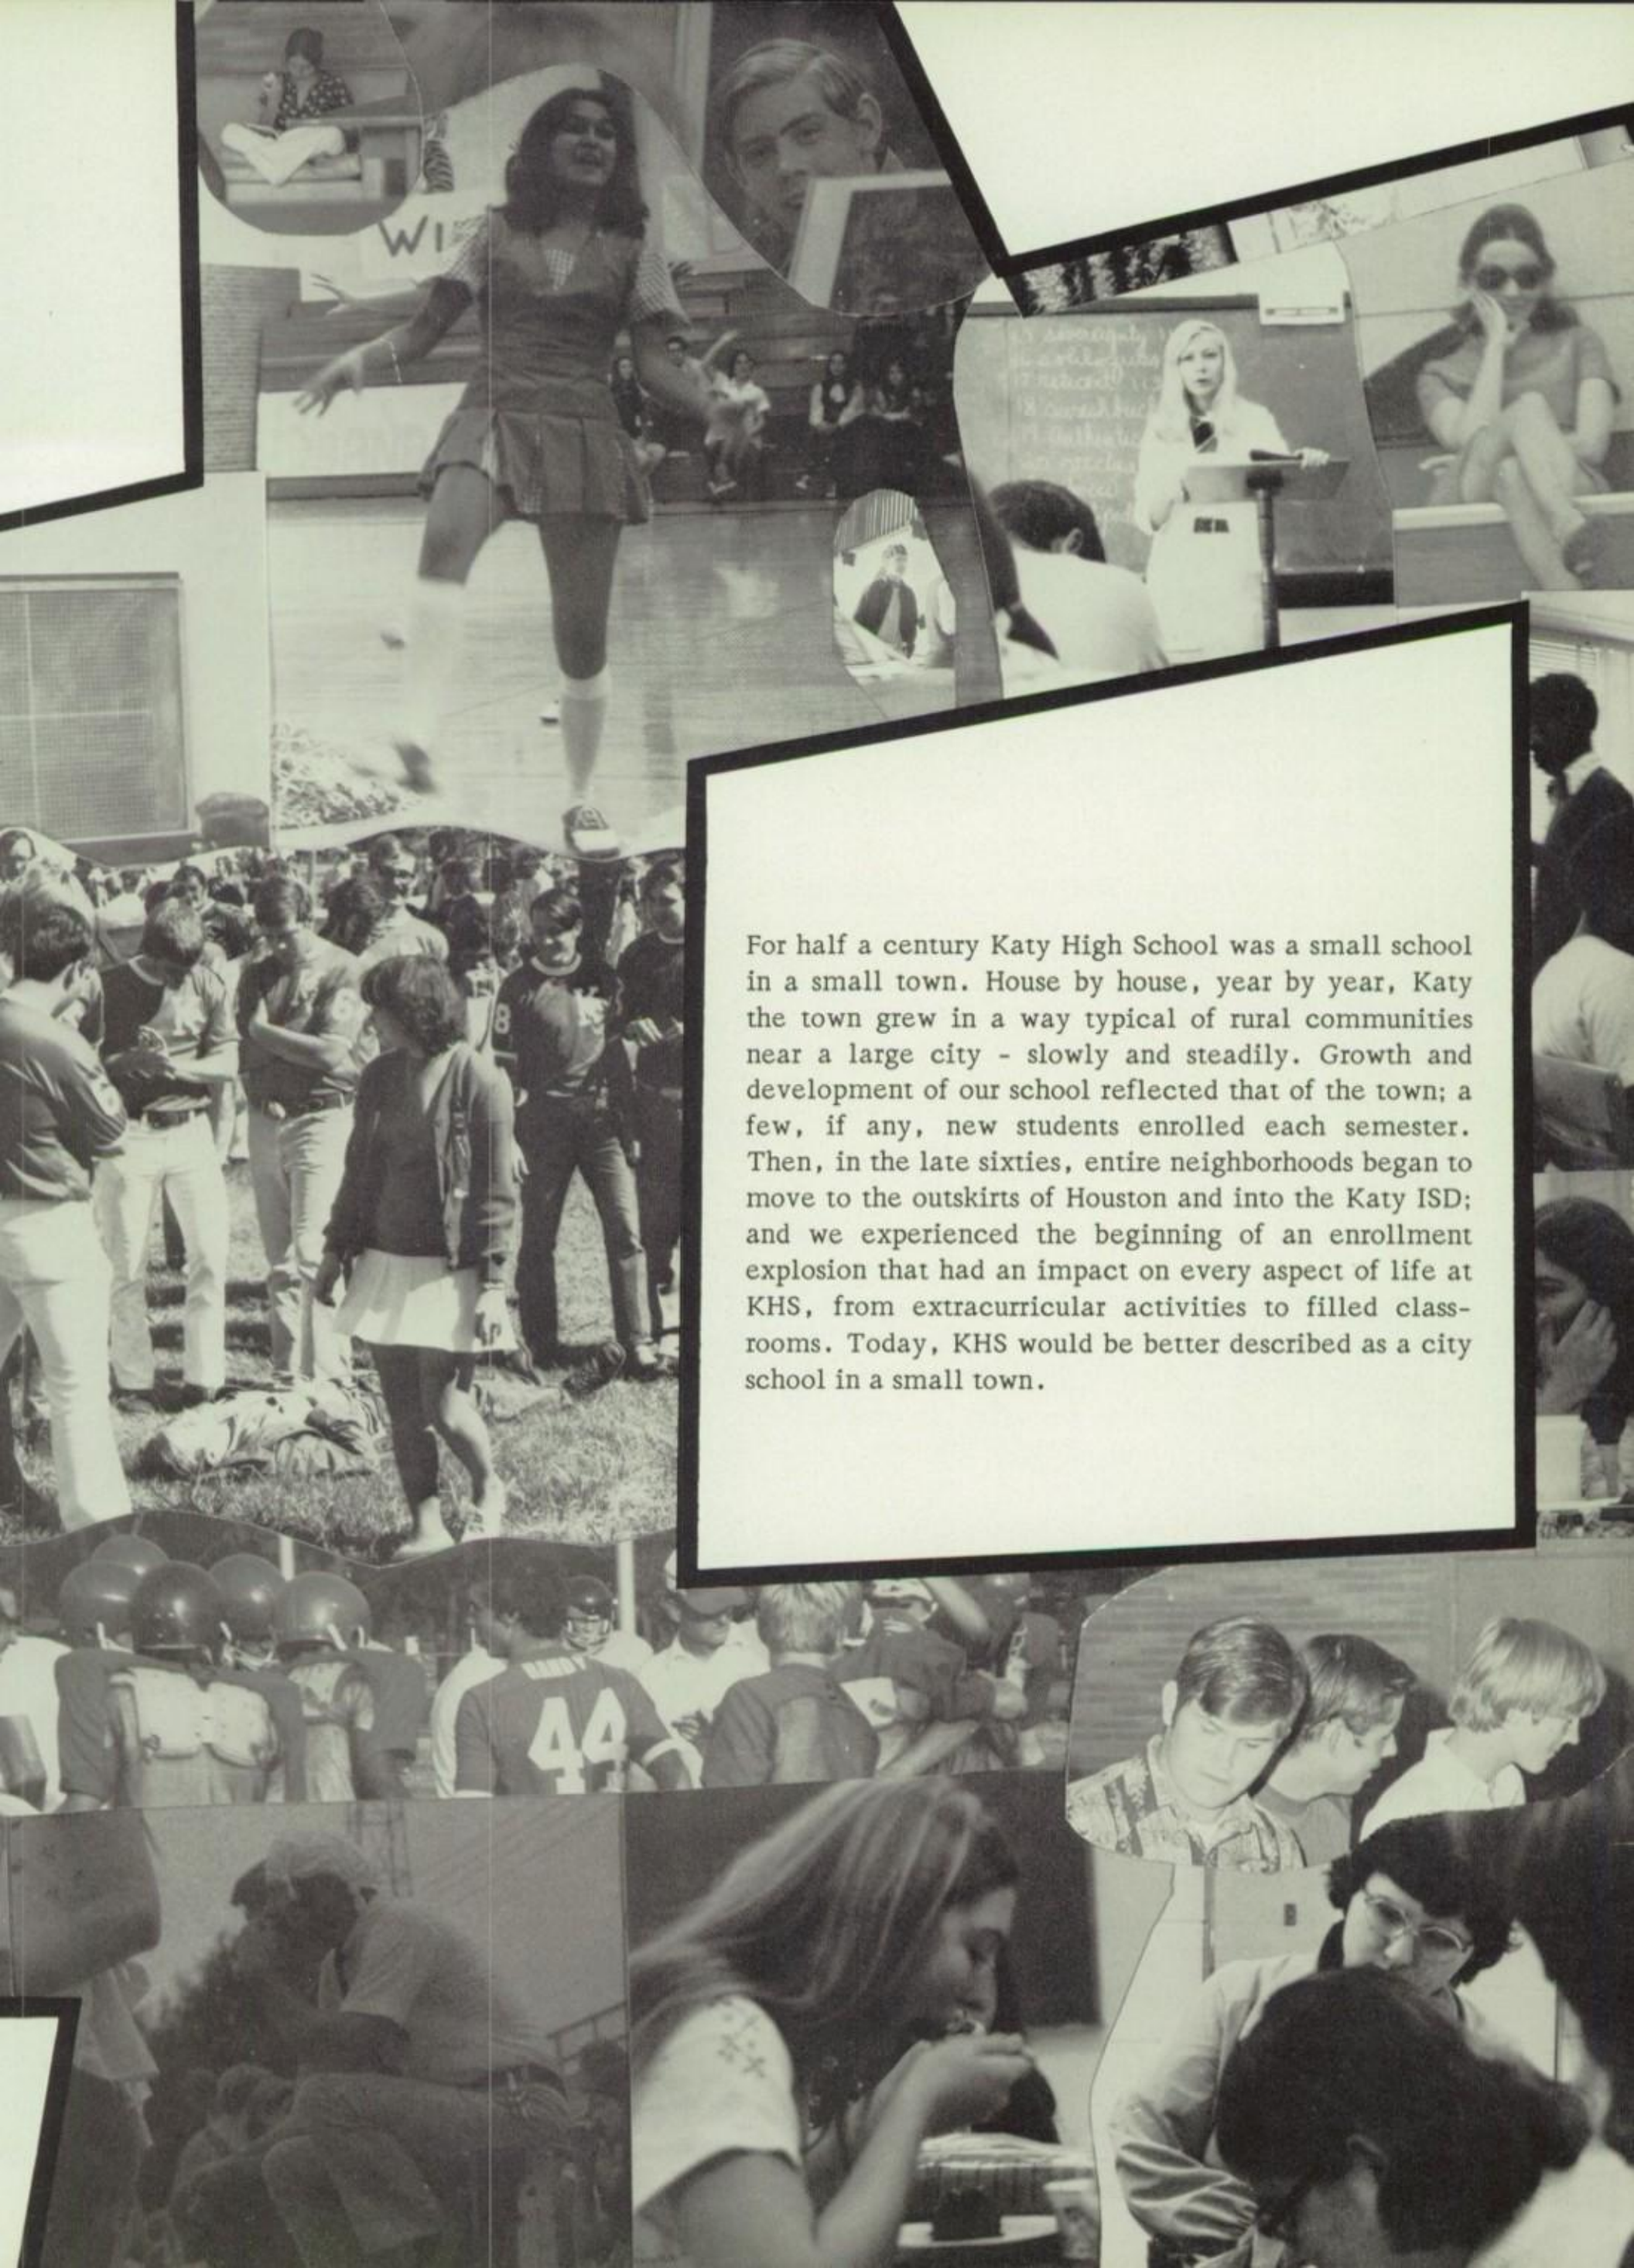
Katy High School
Katy, Texas Volume 33

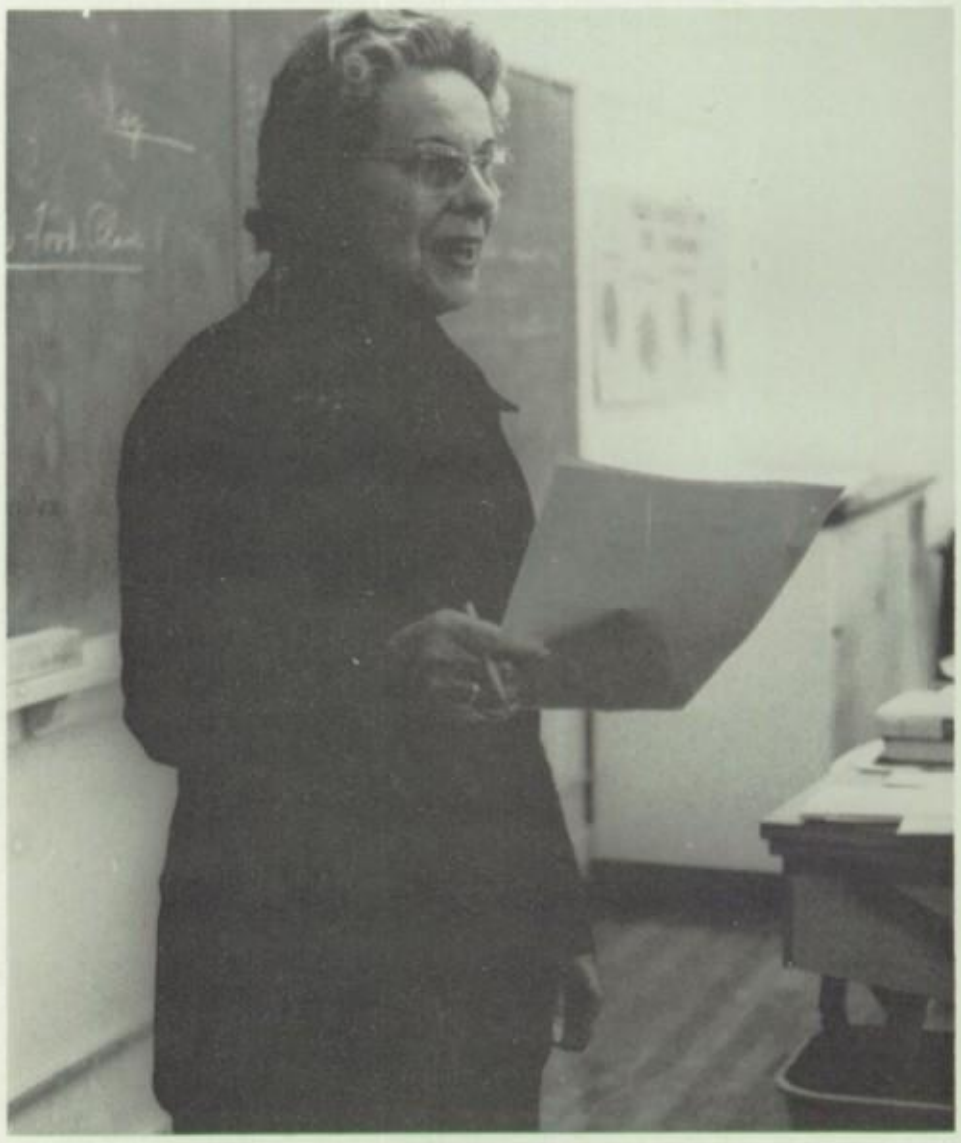


KATY HIGH SCHOOL



For half a century Katy High School was a small school in a small town. House by house, year by year, Katy the town grew in a way typical of rural communities near a large city - slowly and steadily. Growth and development of our school reflected that of the town; a few, if any, new students enrolled each semester. Then, in the late sixties, entire neighborhoods began to move to the outskirts of Houston and into the Katy ISD; and we experienced the beginning of an enrollment explosion that had an impact on every aspect of life at KHS, from extracurricular activities to filled classrooms. Today, KHS would be better described as a city school in a small town.

Esteem And High Regard Given

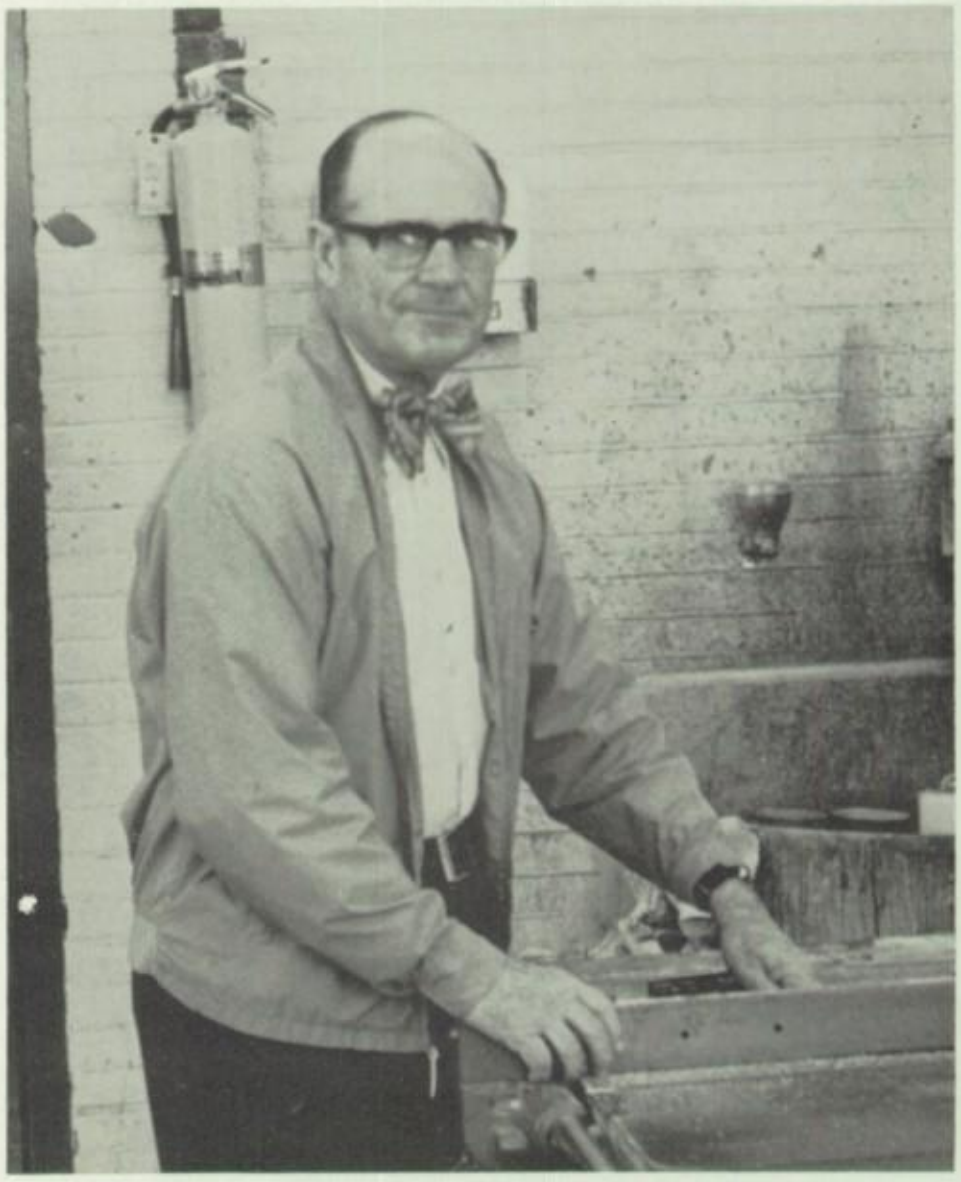


Mrs. Ruth Shurbet

''Thirty-six years of teaching is a fair record for one who had no intention of pursuing the profession as a full time career,'' says Ruth Shurbet, KHS teacher for 27 years. In her early years she coached girls athletics, directed choir and speech, and did custodial work. After a tour as ''Rughie the Riveter'' in a munitions and mechanization plant during World War II, she began to teach home economics full time. But regardless of the subject she taught, Mrs. Shurbet passed on to all of her students a saying she learned from her father:

''Good, better, best.
Never let it rest,
Until the good is better,
And the better is your best.''

Mrs. Shurbet said she looks forward to retirement, and her greatest goal will be to visit Alaska.

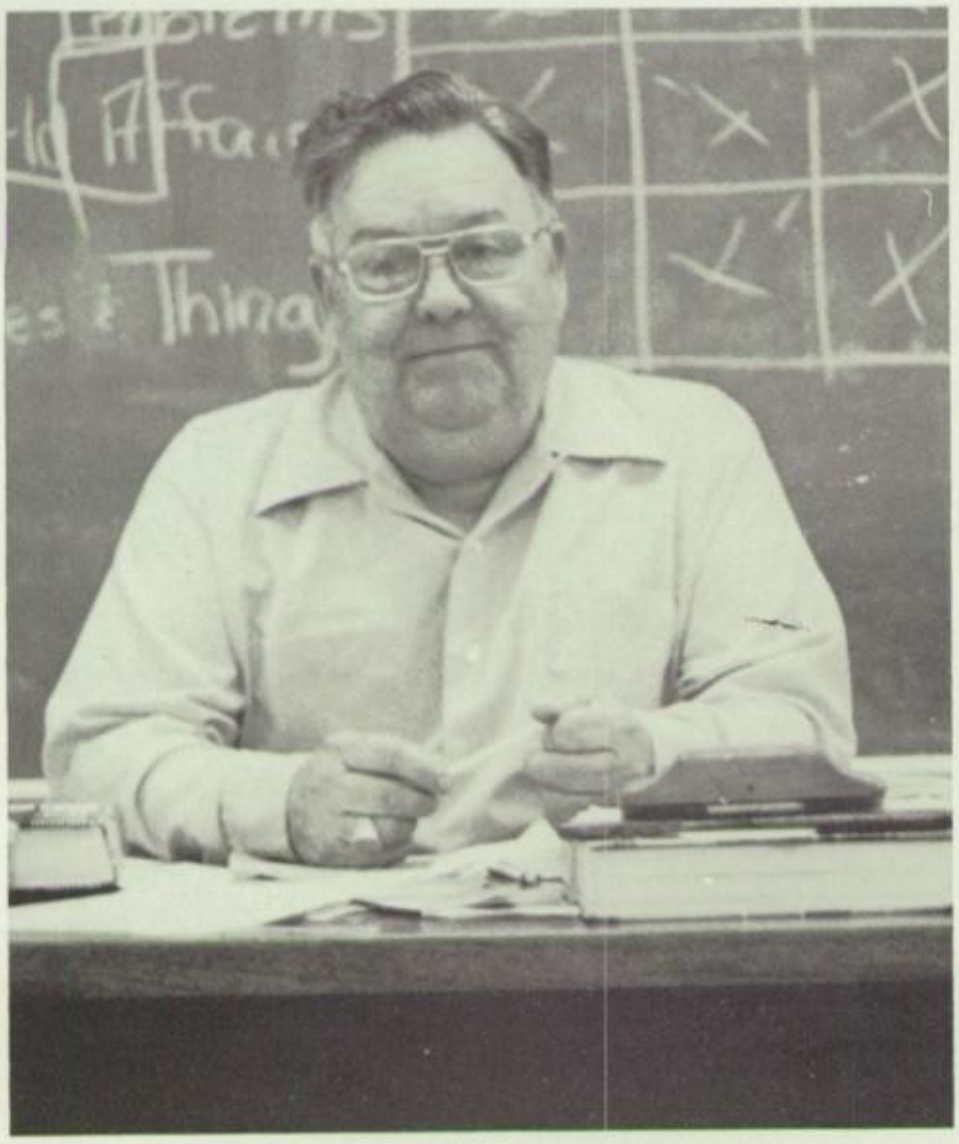


Mr. Maple Pollard

''I've taught everything up the line except English and algebra . . . I know I'll miss it,'' says Maple Pollard, a member of the teaching profession for forty years. The list of subjects Mr. Pollard has taught is both varied and long; he has instructed students in government, economics, physical science, mathematics, athletics, and woodshop.

Regarding retirement, Mr. Pollard says, ''It's no telling what will come up.'' Possibly he will go and help his son work a 400 acre farm in Normangee. He also wants to catch up on some neglected hunting and fishing. For sure, Mr. Pollard hopes retirement will afford him the opportunity to get a long deserved rest.

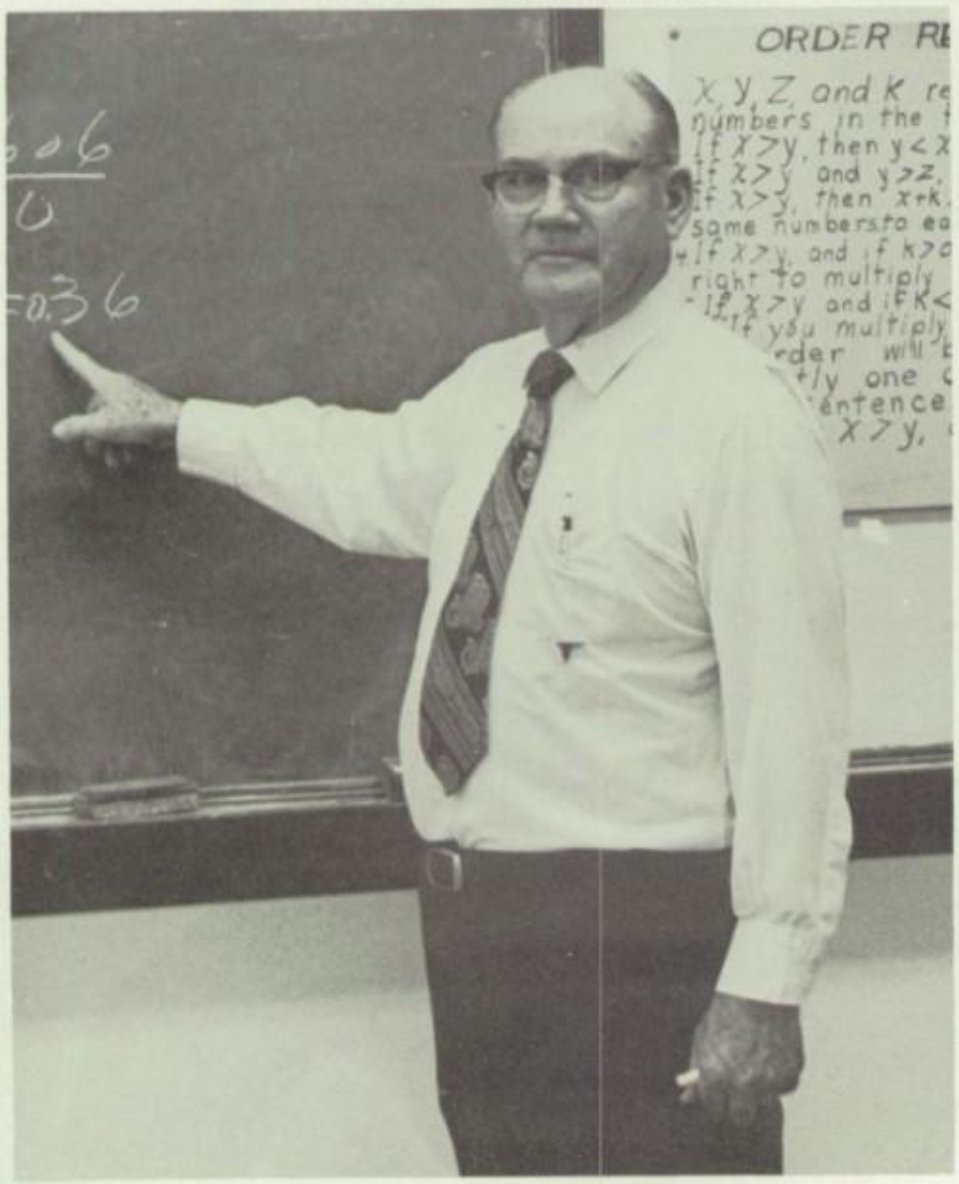
To Katy's Retiring Teachers



Mr. Ted Lammert

"I've enjoyed teaching. I like kids. I think I'm going to miss kids. This, to me, is like another graduation, one more commencement in my life," says Ted Lammert, who has spent thirty-one years of his forty year teaching career at Katy. Though his students of the last few years would associate him with government, Mr. Lammert has taught almost everything including pre-flight and algebra.

Mr. Lammert has made no definite plans as to what he will do when he retires. However, he says he likes to travel and would like to see more of the United States.



Mr. W. R. Leggett

"Teaching is a wonderful profession. I cherish the pleasant memories during my years of service in the profession and hope that my efforts have been of some value to the young people with whom I have worked," says W. R. Leggett whose last eleven years at Katy completed his teaching career of forty-three years. Versatile as well as experienced, Mr. Leggett has served as a principal, superintendent, and a teacher of Algebra I and II, geometry, business math, and history.

HOMECOMING
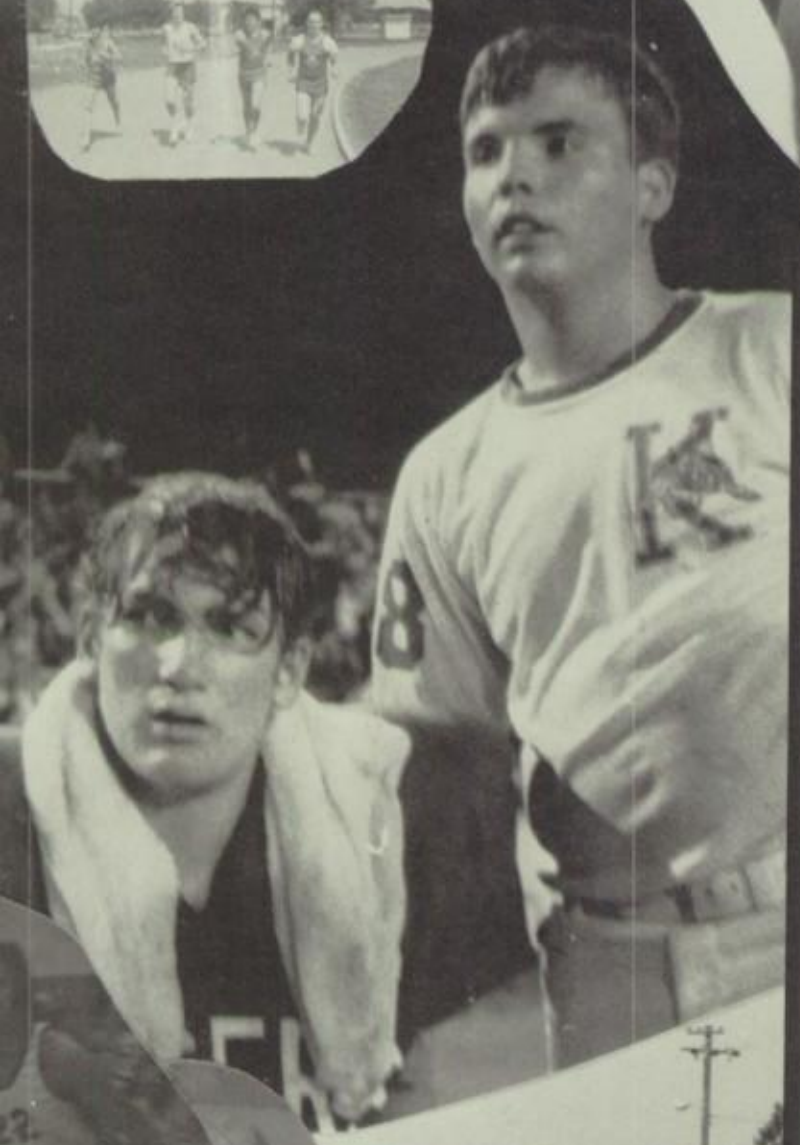
Fralick



When KHS was a small-town school, it was no major feat for a person to get to know every person in school. Now, it is not unusual for someone to walk down the halls each day and see new faces that went unnoticed the day before. As the student body increases, there are more opportunities for persons to encounter others, for personalities to clash or to click. Possibly from the competitive encounters we have in athletics as participants or spectators, we can better meet the successes and failures in our individual futures. Inevitable changes in our school will be unwelcome by some, but others who like greater challenges most likely are glad that KHS is now a city school in a small town.

During the fall, the halls and Friday pep rallies revealed what the pep squad did all week. The cheerleaders made signs and led the pep rallies, and the pep squad treated the football players with original "spirit boosters" such as cakes, letters, plaques, and others.

The student body became more involved in the skits presented to inspire the team to victory. Plenty of "noise" was the typical theme; the presence of the band added much to the fun.

Activities

Ola Kinlaw, 1973 Homecoming Queen, escorted by Erwin Hood

Each year KHS stages a week-long spirit rally known as Homecoming. Students provide special effects for the event in the way of a Thursday night bonfire. Also in the crowd that night are alumni who come to see if the bonfire is still as exciting and enjoyable as it was when they were in school. From the time the first piece is lit until the time the last piece turns to ash, participants' actions seem like rituals; persons yell, chant, dance around the fire, and play musical instruments. Faces glisten and flush orange as they absorb the heat and reflect the light. Friday night, suspense joins the spirit generated all week as the crowd awaits the announcement of the Homecoming Queen who is selected by the student body. The festivities do not come to an end when the game is over, for afterwards a dance is held in the VFW Hall.

Tech Coach Speaks At Banquet

Jim Carlen, head coach at Texas Tech, stressed the importance of teamwork when he addressed the annual Football Banquet. Also a part of the program was the presentation of awards - Mitch Fralick was named Outstanding Back and received the Culpepper Award. Bobby Redus was named Outstanding Lineman, and Gary Guidry received the Fighting Heart Award.

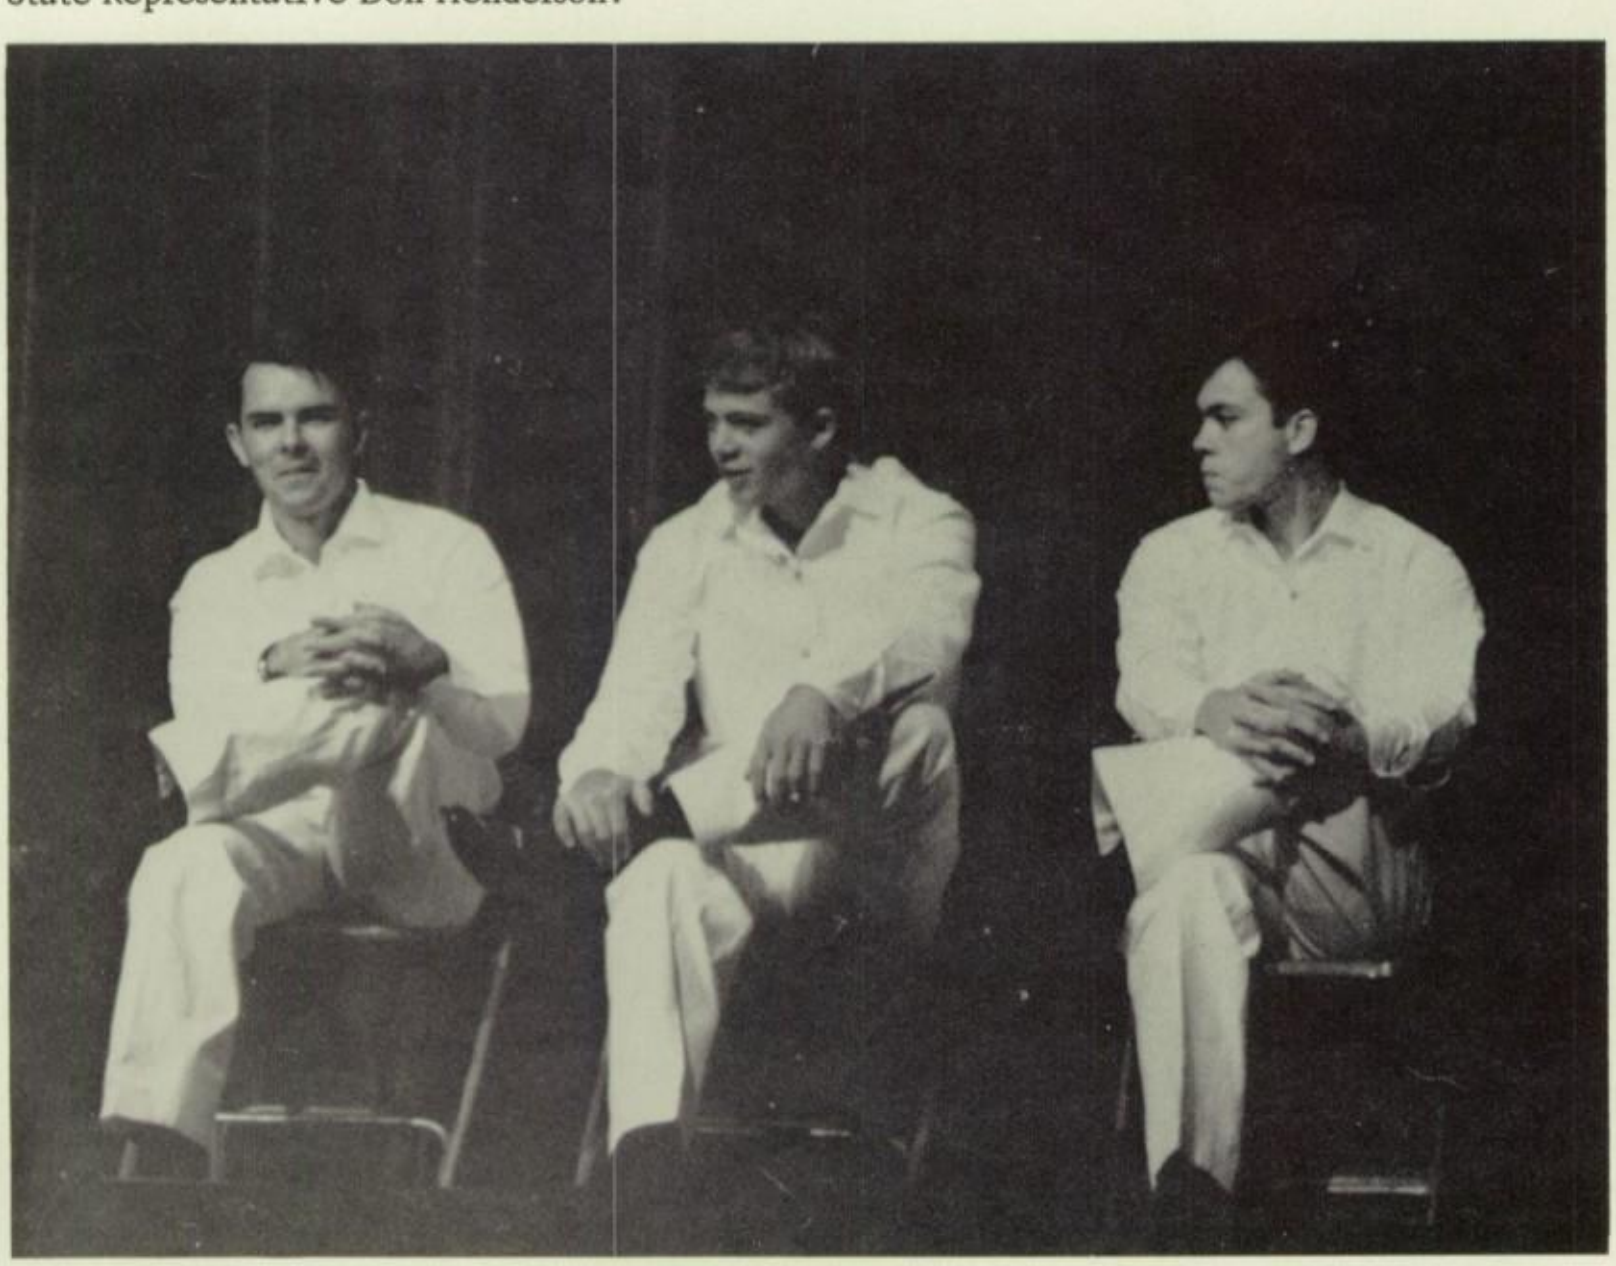
Those in charge of preparing and serving are Mr. Hoyt, Mrs. Lathum, Mr. Sibley, and Mr. Craton.

Assemblies Educate And Entertain

Mr. McDonald, Mr. Harborth, Mr. Rhodes, and Mr. Lammert speak to State Representative Don Henderson.

Several assemblies were presented to and by the student body. Among the variety of programs seen were concerts by the Del Mar Junior College Band from Corpus Christi and the Katy choir, the National Honor Society Initiation, a visit from a state representative about the constitution revision convention and a panel of convicts speaking against drug abuse.



Three convicts spoke frankly of their experiences in a drug-abuse program sponsored by "Operation Kick-It."

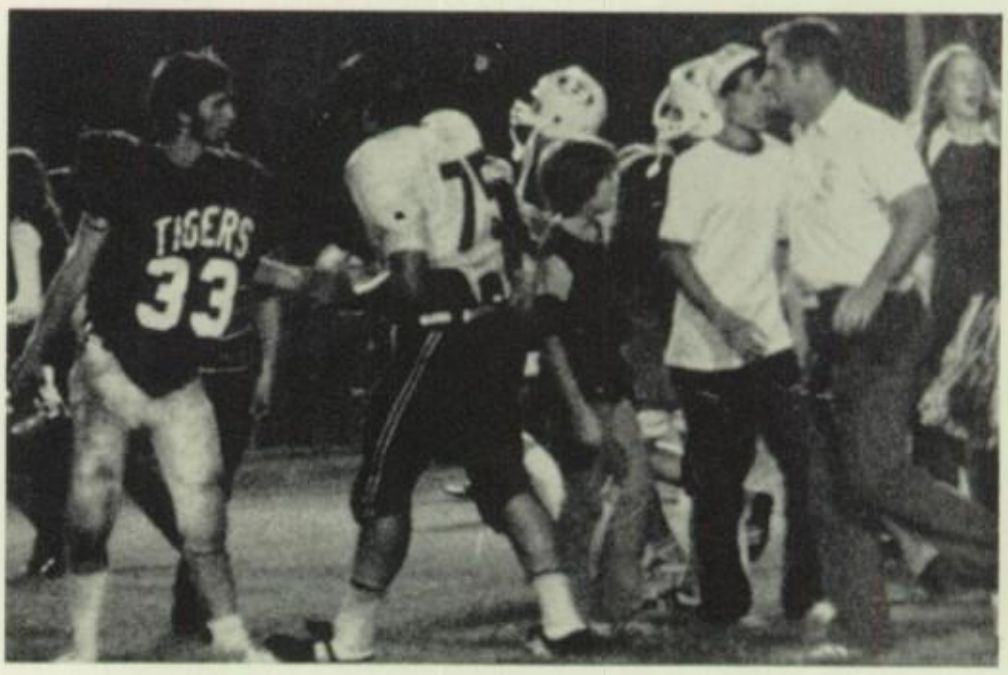
The 1973 football team was one of the most successful and exciting teams at KHS in several years. The players worked for unity and closeness within their team and represented themselves well in their games. Their first win was a big one as they beat the 20-AA District Champions, the Hempstead Bobcats. From there they went on to play the eventual State Champ Friendswood in its lowest scoring (and muddiest) game all year, including the state playoffs. In the final game of the year, nineteen seniors finished their careers as winners against Sealy.



Congratulations after another win.

Tigers Win Three In A Row

The highlight of football season was the Tigers' three wins in a row! They started with a brilliant team effort against the Hempstead Bobcats winning 20-12. This was Hempstead's only loss until the state playoff. The Tigers next victory was over the East Bernard Brahmas, 13-7. The Tigers rallied on two second-half scores to win. In clearly their most exciting game of the season, Katy nudged the Alief Bears, 19-15. The Tigers found themselves behind by nine points with less than three minutes left to play, but two long passes brought Katy the victory and three wins in a row.

Cagers Place Second In District

The varsity basketball team, coached by Mr. Jackson, had high hopes at the beginning of the season. Those hopes were justified as the Tigers moved into a first-place tie with Royal. In a tense play-off game, the Tigers were defeated by the Falcons. Still, the Tigers were honored with three positions on the All-District Team awarded to Jackie Bassett, Erwin Hood, and Kenneth Thompson.

This season for the Katy Tigerettes was not their best season, but it was still a good one. The team began their series of games with a lot of spirit, drive, and desire to go all the way to state. But as the district contests came along, the Tigerettes could not get beyond a tie for first. The teams from Royal, Friendswood, and Bellville overcame the team's high hopes and they finished third in district. Ola and Evelyn Kinlaw were placed on the First All-District Team.

Varsity Volleyballers Victorious

This season was one of the best for all the volleyball teams. The varsity squad started the year with eight seniors and two juniors. The girls worked to show high spirit and desire both on and off the court. Part of their togetherness was to have travel uniforms for tournaments and out-of-town games. A larger student body had naturally meant a greater diversity of interests within KHS. Both the classroom courses and the club activities grew and continued to expand to keep pace with the rate of growth. For the second year, vocational courses were offered. Four clubs made their debut this year. Mini-courses lasted two weeks instead of one this year, and plans to expand the program in years to come were in the making. All in all, more ability and more competition were found in each department now that KHS has become a city school in a small town.

NFL Has An Active Year

The Katy Chapter of the National Forensic League continued its past record of trophy-winning at various area speech tournaments often placing Katy ahead of opposing 3-A and 4-A schools. Several sweepstakes trophies were captured as well as innumerable individual honors. The victories were obtained not only by experienced members but also by new freshmen who showed the promise of good things to continue. The chapter finished the year as the highest ranking AA chapter in the Southeast Texas area.

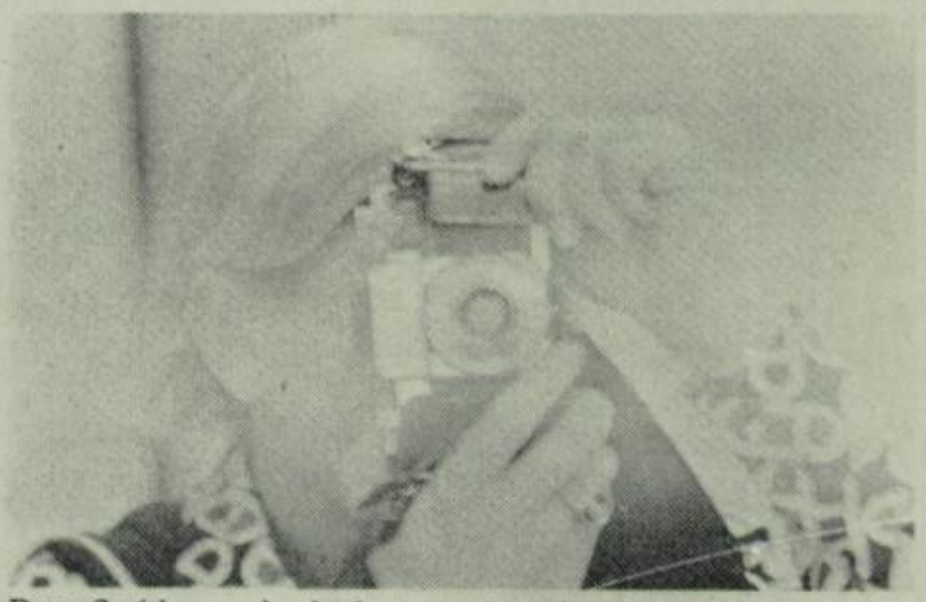
Many people enjoy watching plays, but are seldom aware of the many aspects involved in play production. The two most time-consuming jobs are securing costumes and props. Shortly after the director has selected the play and cast it, the heads of the costume and prop departments go to work. An extensive study of the period and style of the play is conducted.

Layouts of costume styles are drawn up and discusses with the director. After details of style are completed, measurments are taken, materials are chosen to best suit the character, and construction of the costumes is underway. In choosing the material, consideration must be given to the character, actor, and the stage. After construction is completed, the actors try their costumes on and necessary alterations are made. Occasionally, the costume crew head and the director decide that a particular costume does not suit the requirements of the play. In this case, a new costume is made to replace it. When all costumes are completed, a dress rehearsal is conducted.

Most props used in high school productions must be secured with a minimum amount of money. The head of the property department determines the property requirements of the play. A complete checklist is made of all props. Then the props must be made, bought, or borrowed. The majority of all props are constructed by the crew.



Doug Smith, yearbook photographer, does his part to meet the Staff's first deadline of March 1. Editor, photographers, editors, and copy personnel prepared seventy pages of class faculty and club pictures that were sent to Taylor Publishing Company on Wednesday, Feb. 27.

8 Attend Lamar Tournament

Eight speech students journeyed to Beaumont for the Lamar Tech speech tournament on Feb. 22 and 23. Out of the eight, six advanced to the finals. Karen Townsend took first place in girls informative speaking. Paul Pepper placed fourth in extemporaneous speaking, Lisa Ferguson placed fourth in extemp, Kathy Moreau and Elizabeth Fredrick took fourth in duet acting, and Rian Smolik won fourth in poetry and dramatic interpretation. Rian's win qualifies him for the State National Forensic League Tournament.

KHS Forensic Students are presently getting ready for the Pasadena Green and White Tournament on March 1 and 2.

"Better Late Than Never" Department

The following are excerpts from Leslee Cardiff's comments on the State Constitutional Convention. Ms. Cardiff attended the convention earlier this month.

Seating on the floor is not as formal as one might expect, but informal. Persons joked and fought.

She heard discussion on the proposed "right to work" law and commented, "There are some really smart people up there, but we do have our dunces."

She met one lobbyist. She mentioned that lobbyists cannot legally buy legislators anything, such as a meal or even a Coke, as a persuasion tactic. The lobbyist she spoke to said, "if you ever once lie to a congressman, then your career is over."

Vice-Chairman of the Commission, Milbourne, said 'hat it is easier to change law than amend a constitution, so new constitutions should be somewhat general.

She said the legislators were trying to get every possible angle on the proposals, and citizens were allowed to deliver testimony on the floor.

While in Austin, Leslee had the good fortune to meet several VIP's, among them Leon Jaworski, Price Daniel and Bill Hobby.

Art teacher Jen Schmalz took all his art students to the Houston Museum Wednesday Feb. 13. He remarked that the group was actually too large for one sponsor, but he said, "It made a real impact on some of the students." It marked the first time Mr. Schmalz has visited the museum since a new wing was added, and he was quite impressed with the exhibits. Some date back to the 1100's, he said, and come on up to the present. "Some of the exhibits were real eye openers for the students," Schmalz sai. Evelyn and Ola Kinlaw commented on exhibits depicting the way people will dress in the future. For more comments, contact an art student.

Both bands provided a variety of musical entertainment for the listener, Mr. Jean Schmalz, "It was different from what the band has presented in the past, and thoroughly entertaining."

The Concert band presented "Henderson Field," "Forest Splendor," "From Foxen's Glen," and "Chicago Marine Band March."

The Red band played several numbers which included "Lola Flores," "MacArthur Park," "The Four Hornsmen," "Fantasia on Dixie," "Incidental Suite for Band," "Lennon-McCartney Portrait."

According to a spokesman,the attendance was disappointing. It could have been due to conflicting activities (there have been some) or lack of posters and announcements. Whatever, it was termed a good performance.

Like a country having a multi-national population, KHS had students from several different and distinct areas enrolled in it. In addition to the Katy and rural areas, students came from residential areas which are extensions of Houston. The enrollment of so many people from the city created a metropolitan atmosphere in KHS. The hallways became crowded rushways like city sidewalks, yet local and commuting students could easily exchange points of view. Surely the changes in the enrollment have made KHS a city school in a small town.

Class Of '74

Juniors

This year began busily for the Juniors as they sponsored the Homecoming Dance. Two years of money-making projects was climaxed when preparations began in early spring for the Junior-Senior Banquet. They had to work diligently since the Prom was scheduled a week after the Banquet. With both successful events behind them, the class could settle down to begin dreaming and aspiring of their upcoming Senior year.

Sophomores

This year's Sophomore class was noted for an overabundance of spirit and ambition, both of which were necessary to carry out their car wash and successful annual barbecue. Their ambition was displayed in school activities, also. They received an hour lunch one day for their efforts in winning the Christmas project. And their spirit aroused a first place victory in the Spring Festival.

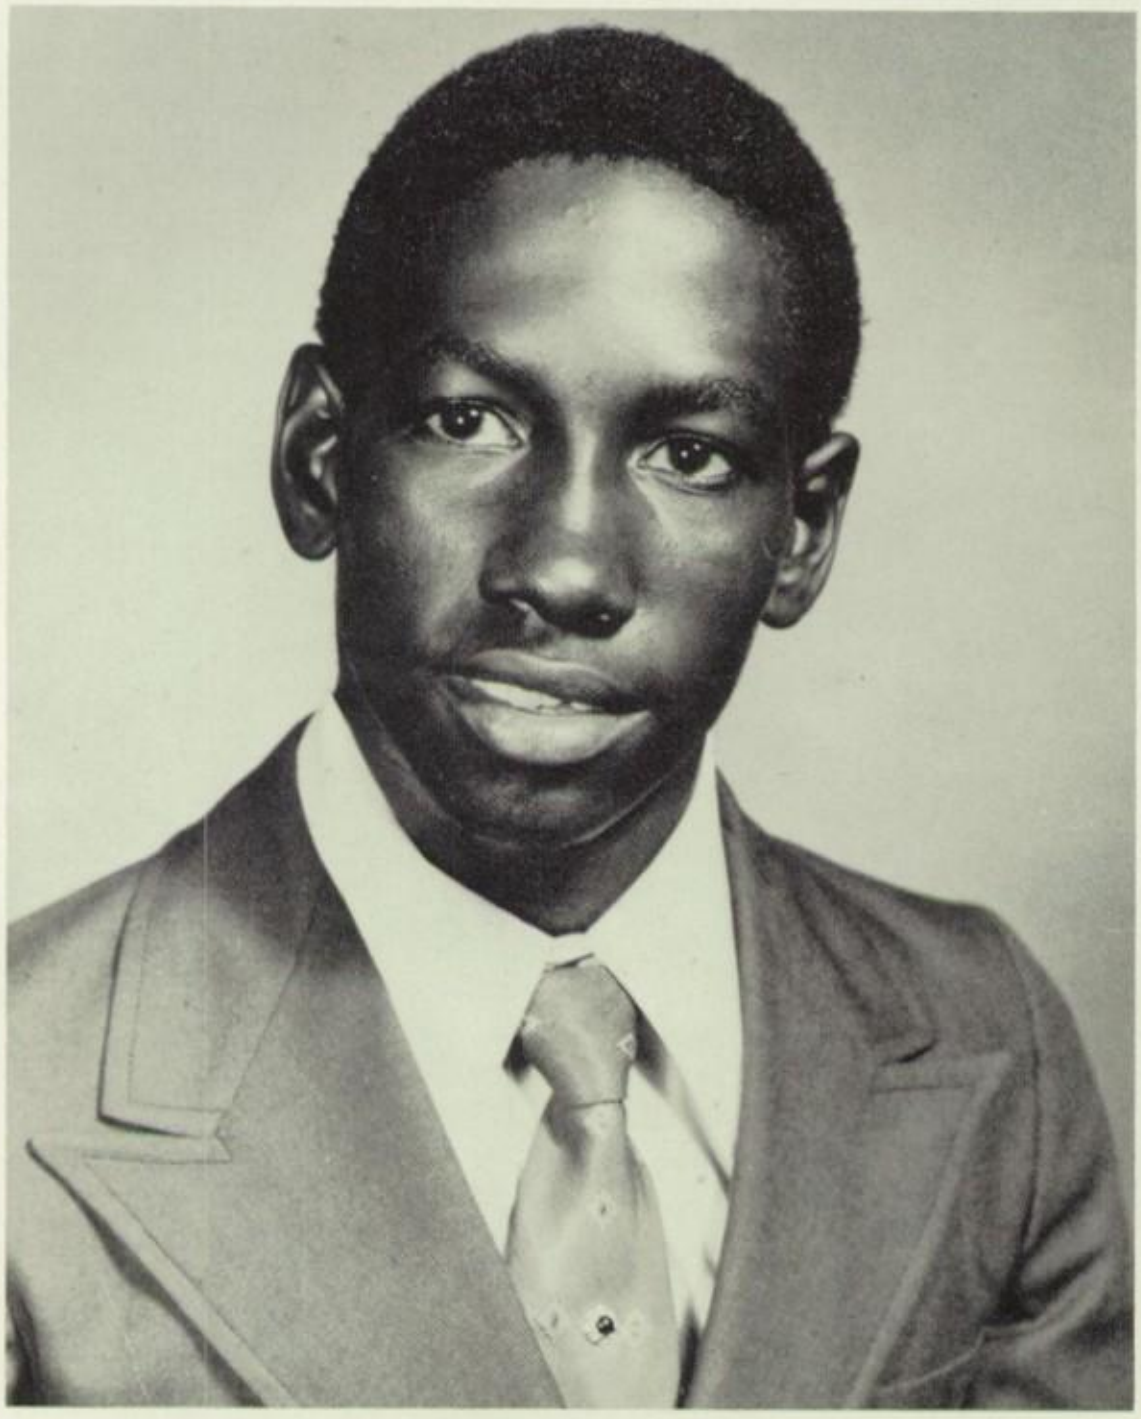
In Memoriam



Robert Lee

The student body and faculty were shocked to learn of the untimely passing of Robert Lee, Class of '73. While at KHS, Robert had been an outstanding basketball player, and after graduation had continued his interest in athletics as a freshman at Texas Southern University. Robert will easily be remembered for the quick smile and snappy walk of his school days. For those who visited him during his hospital confinement, their memories will always remember his courage and good humor.

Mike Andrews

An accident claimed the life of former sophomore student, Mike Andrews. His teachers and friends will remember Mike for his quiet, gentle manner and dignity.

Co-Editors' Note

KHS has changed in many ways this year, and we have tried to portray that idea in the 1974 ECHO. It has been a special year for many of us. Perhaps this book will keep many memories alive in the years to come. If this be true, our goal has been accomplished, and we have succeeded.

Sincerely,

Cara Brown

Donna Andrew

Thank Yous

Our special thanks to the following for their assistance in our compiling this book:

John Griffin, Senior '74, who designed this year's cover.

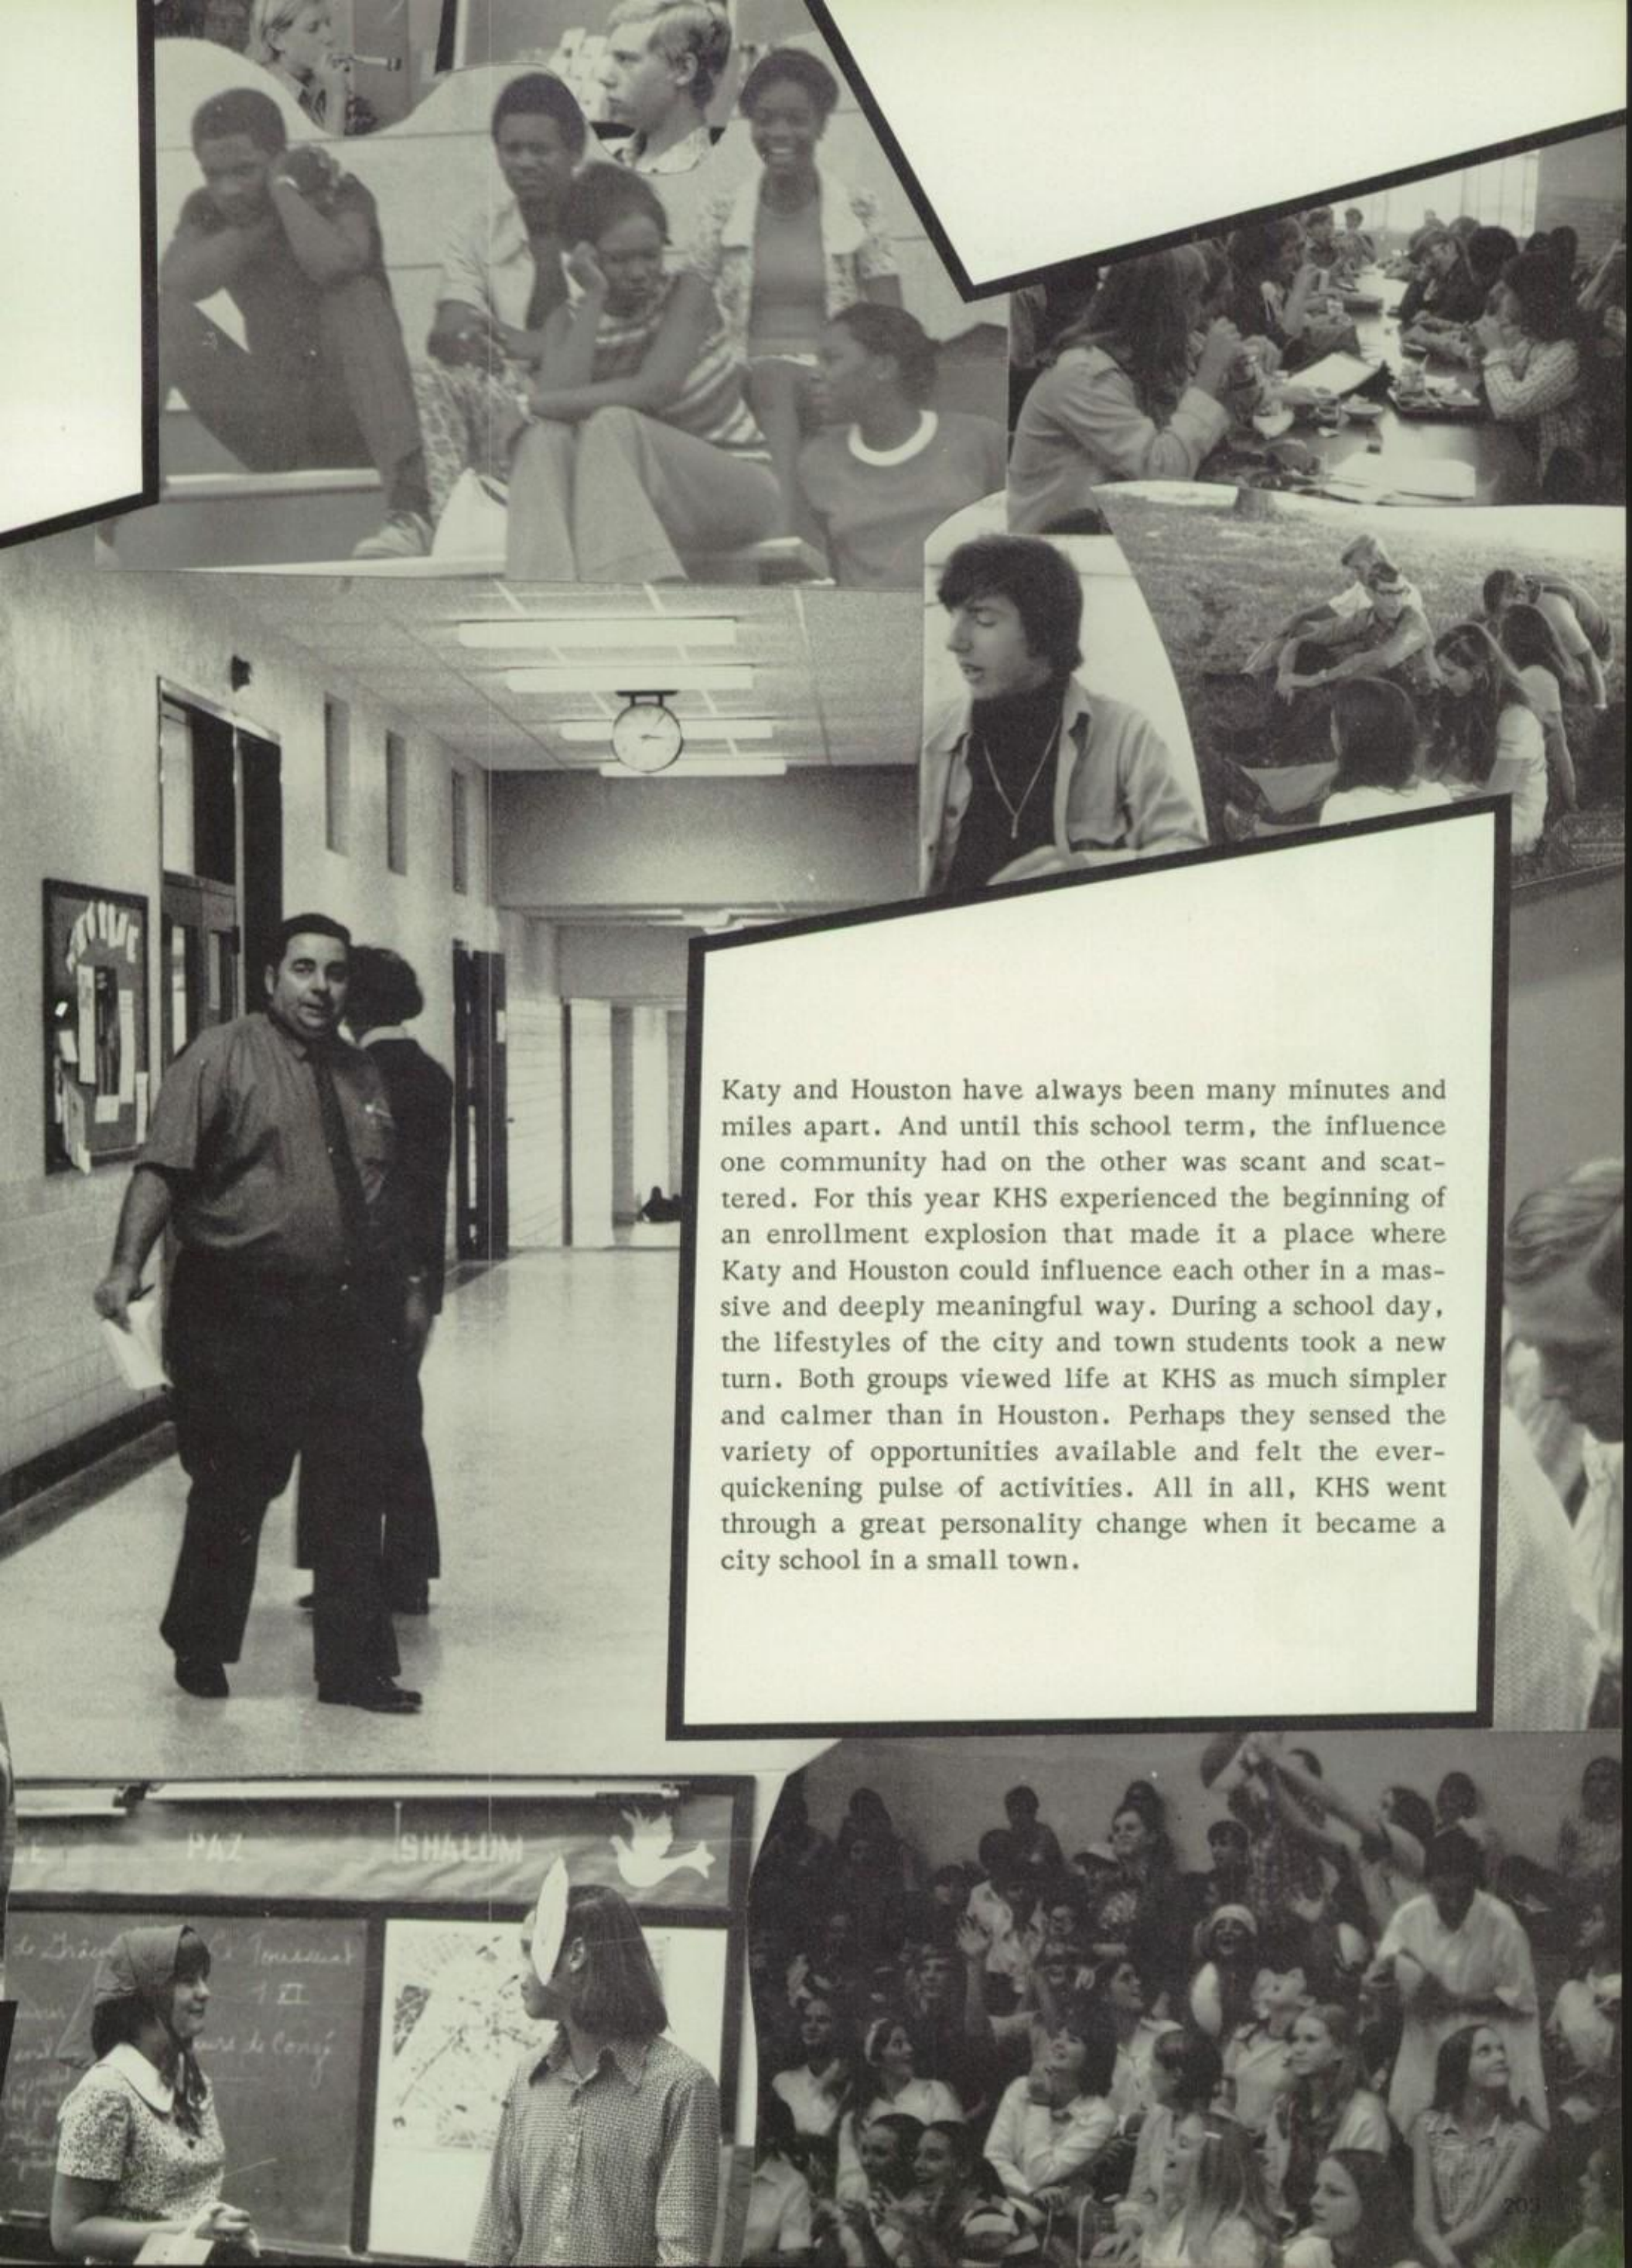
Mr. Ed Tillerson and Mr. Clyde King, who graciously loaned us sports photos.

Mrs. Pat Williams and the TIGER TRACKS Staff, who helped with our administration photos.

Mr. John Stevens of THE TIMES, who helped with our supplies.

Mr. Dennis Clark of Taylor Publishing Co., who judged the Senior Beauty and Handsome nominees.

KATY HIGH SCHOOL



Katy and Houston have always been many minutes and miles apart. And until this school term, the influence one community had on the other was scant and scattered. For this year KHS experienced the beginning of an enrollment explosion that made it a place where Katy and Houston could influence each other in a massive and deeply meaningful way. During a school day, the lifestyles of the city and town students took a new turn. Both groups viewed life at KHS as much simpler and calmer than in Houston. Perhaps they sensed the variety of opportunities available and felt the ever-quickening pulse of activities. All in all, KHS went through a great personality change when it became a city school in a small town.
